

Lack of safe water and sanitation remains one of the world's most urgent health issues. High child mortality

The lack of water affects the primary source of drinking water for many people. In many areas, people have to spend time

